

BUCHANAN AIDED THE REBELLION.

G. A. R. Commander in New Jersey Tells How it Was Done—Army Sent to Utah as Part of the Plan to Help Secession—War Munitions Shipped South as Dry Goods—Important and Interesting Reminiscences.

La Grande, Oregon, Dec. 1.—During my stay recently in the city of Newark, N. J., it was my good fortune to meet a very interesting veteran, Col. Henry L. Halleck. The soldier has passed his 70th year, but is still active and has an excellent memory. He was in the Mexican war, came in Johnston's army to Utah, and served with distinction through the Civil War. Today he bears several scars as tokens of his terrible experiences.

COL. HALLECK'S STORY.

Each time I called to see him, he related to me some of his past history, and convinced me by his accurate description of roads and country he saw so many years ago that he was a very keen observer. He kept a careful journal and his notes are valuable to every person who is seeking truth regarding some great events of American history.

He always has a good word for the "Mormons," and defends them wherever opportunity affords. He lived among them for several years, from 1858 into the early '60's, and saw their poverty and struggles.

BUCHANAN WAR A FRAUD.

Regarding the Utah war, he writes, "My mind is very clear upon that matter. It was the most stupendous fraud ever imposed upon the American people. I believe it was never intended by the Buchanan administration of 1858 to force a war upon the 'Mormon' people; that was only a blind for what came after. Looking over my notes of that date I find that late in the fall of 1857 General Johnston was ordered to Utah, but he was not to go beyond Green river. General Harney left Fort Leavenworth in the spring of 1858, to relieve Johnston, at the outranked the latter by several years.

WAS TO HELP THE REBELLION.

After Harney had started it dawned upon the administration it would never do to let him get into Utah. Oh, no, that would displace Johnston, the plan of the Southern leaders, and destroy their plans, as Harney would surely make trouble when he entered Utah.

"I lived in the South in the early

'60's and know that the coming war was common talk. It was often predicted that the struggle would begin within ten years, while the North did not even think of war then.

"In my firm opinion the whole plot of the Utah war was for no other purpose than to clean all war material out of the forts and arsenals and take the soldiers from their posts. To send these directly South would have been bad policy.

WAR MUNITIONS SENT SOUTH.

"I know that guns and ammunition were sent down the Missouri river from the moving army. These were put in cases labeled dry goods.

"The whole thing was hatched in fraud. Millions of dollars were, I may say, stolen from the government. Look at the provision contracts to haul from Fort Leavenworth to Utah at $30 per hundred weight. Corn that cost 25 cents per pound for freight might have been bought in Salt Lake City for $1 per bag. Tons of flour was spoiled and thrown away. Yet it was a splendid thing for the 'Mormons.' It gave them work and money, which they did not have before, flowed into Utah.

PRaise FOR THE 'MORMONS.'

"We found the 'Mormons' very poor, but an honest and hard working people. Their ways were plain but they showed us every kindness in their power. How I would like to have you read all my notes taken during my travels through Utah to the Virgin river. They contain nothing but praise for the settlers. Their kindness to me will be remembered as long as I live.

HARDSHIPS OF EARLY SETTLERS.

"It requires strong fortitude to live in Utah in these days. I often visited the people in their houses and what I saw would fill a volume. The poor in our cities do not know what those early settlers endured. They told me that for many months they had no meat, and they pounded corn with a rock to make their flour. Their clothes were often made of bags or any kind of cloth they could get. Blankets were especially scarce, and when they saw our good warm army blankets, they would offer us almost anything they had for them. Can anyone say these people were not faithful to the cause they had adopted?

THE ALMIGHTY RULED.

"Thank God we gave them a new life. The army did not go there for any good, but it seemed that God willed it for the good of these poor people.

"A young 'Mormon' of about twenty-five years overtook us and traveled several days with our train. He had been from the Cedars to Salt Lake City, about three hundred miles, with two barrels of pine tar. He had disposed of this and was returning (with his wedding stake) to be married, he said. I became very friendly with him and learned his history from the time he left Wales, seven or eight years before. We camped in his yard for three days and he brought home his new wife. We all had a jolly good time, and on leaving I gave them some blankets. Their joy in obtaining them well repaid me for the gift.

MOUNTAIN MEADOW.

"Brigham Young did not have anything to do with the Mountain Meadow massacre; nor did he know anything about it for a long time after it occurred. Brigham Young was one of the smartest men in the United States and too smart to be mixed up in such a murder. No, it is against all reason and common sense. No, my friend, with all the abuse he got he never committed that crime.

"No one could make me believe that the 'Mormon' Church had anything to do with that deed. Anybody who says

Why?

It is because Ayer's Hair Vigor is a hair-food: goes right down to the roots of the hair: feeds the hair bulbs just the way they used to be fed when you were younger and more vigorous. That's why the dark, rich color of early life always comes back to your gray hair. The hair grows longer, too.

If you do not obtain the benefit you desire from use of the Vigor, write the Doctor about it. He will tell you just the right thing to do. Address, Dr. J. C. Ayer, Lowell, Mass.

It did is a fool, and does not know what he is talking about."

G. A. R. COMMANDER.

Mr. Halleck at present is Post Commander of the G. A. R. and has a score of badges and medals of honor for services rendered his country. He took a trip by horseback through Mexico and Central America over much of the same route now being taken by the B. Y. Academy exploring party.

Trusting this veteran's testimony may be treasured in the archives of fair Utah, I remain, Sincerely,

E. D. WHITING.

PRISON LABOR AND GOOD ROADS.

An Example of Their Benefits Shown by What the Municipality is Now Doing in City Creek Canyon—A Suggestion of What Might be Accomplished.

The great advantage obtained by the city through working those who violate its ordinances are now beginning to be realized.

Since the present system has been in vogue, the city prisoners have been constantly at work repairing and building new roads in City Creek canyon. The extent and beauty of the work, accomplished by the Weary Willies, under the direction of Guards Bush and Furster, can only be appreciated by those who know the condition the road was once in, and have seen it as it is now. The "chain gang" began operations at a point near the brick tank, and have proceeded up the canyon about a mile and a quarter.

The entire distance presents the appearance of having been worked by men skilled in the art of road building. Rough places have been made smooth, and high places level. At some points along the road, embankments from fifty to two hundred feet long, and twenty feet high have been constructed. Before work was started on this road the average width thereof was a little over eight feet, it now averages thirty feet. This is truly a remarkable showing to make in such a short time, and reflects much credit to the officers in charge of it. The average force of men is eleven per day, seldom less than that.

Officer Bush and Furster have had as high as thirty-two men to guard and keep at work, which is a very difficult undertaking, indeed.

After partaking of a breakfast of bread, potatoes and coffee, the prisoners are loaded into a wagon, promptly at 8 o'clock and hauled off to their work. A dinner of bread, meat, sugar and coffee is served at 12 o'clock noon, and the "boys" have one hour in which to amuse themselves, recounting each other's experiences on the brake beam.

Their day's labor ends at 4 o'clock, when they are returned to the city jail. At present Ed. Murrie is the central figure in the "gang" and furnishes much amusement for his co-laborers. The officers say that Murrie takes more genuine interest in the work than they themselves do, and if his suggestions are not carried out immediately and to the letter, he becomes very indignant and sulks for the balance of the day.
